SENATE DEFERS ACTION ON TAX GROUP 'RIPPER'

Sub-Committee Is Named To Clarify Proffered Amendments

STUDY OF RELIEF NEEDS IS ORDERED

Committee to Report Financing Program By April 1

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 28.—Confronted by a maze of complex amendments, the senate taxation committee today deferred action for at least a week on an administration bill to reorganize the tax commission.

A four-member subcommittee was directed to incorporate all proffered amendments into a substitute measure.

Study Poor Relief

An intensive month's study of the state's poor relief needs was to start immediately after the president of each chamber names the senators and five representatives for the investigation.

House concurrence in senate amendments last night completed legislative action on the joint resolution setting up the study group with instructions to report a 1939-40 relief financing program to the legislature by April 1.

Governor Bricker's program to revise the state's financial policies by paying virtually all state revenues into the general fund, and eliminating earmarking, went forward but only because Democratic house members came to the rescue of the opposition on one measure.

Aided By Democrats

The Republican majority was unable to muster the 91 necessary votes to pass an emergency bill to repeal earmarking of liquor monopoly profits for the old age pension fund. Two Democrats switched from the "no" to "yes" column and the measure was approved.

The house also completed, by accepting senate amendments, a bill directing inheritance tax revenues into the general fund. Similar action on the intangible tax measure was postponed, however, apparently because of the poor attendance of house members.

The senate approved and sent to the house a bill requiring firemen to contribute two per cent of their salaries to municipal pension and benefit funds.

The senate insurance committee will open hearings today on a bill permitting organization of local non-profit corporations for group medical service. Sen. Lawrence A. Kane (R-Hamilton) drafted a substitute measure authorizing the state and its sub-divisions to make payroll deductions for public employees desiring to participate in the plan.

APPOINTMENTS TO UCC BOARD GO TO SENATE

Mackey and Roberts Are Given Places On Review Board

METCALF NAMED FOR SIX YEARS

Administrator, A Republican, To Be Selected Later

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 28.—Gov. John W. Bricker announced he would send to the senate today nominations of Verner E. Metcalf of Marietta, Walter J. Mackey of Canton, and W. T. Roberts of Bridgeport as members of the newly established unemployment compensation board of review.

The governor said that no one had been selected yet as administrator of the division. A Republican will be named.

The post of administrator and the board of review were set up in an administration "ripper" bill which abolished the three-member Democratic controlled commission. Bricker, who planned to sign the bill today, will have 10 days to name the administrator.

Metcalf and Mackey are Republicans, Roberts a Democrat. Mackey and Roberts are members of the present commission, along with Keith Lawrence, Cleveland Democrat, whose appointment in the dying hours of the last legislature prompted the new Republican assembly and administration to reorganize the division.

Selection of Mackey and Roberts was interpreted in some quarters as a move to appease the opposition of organized labor to the reorganization.

Metcalf, a former state senator and one of the leaders in a senate investigation a year ago of the administration of Gov. Martin L. Davey, was named to a six-year term. Mackey and Roberts will serve four and two years, respectively.

Strubel, pastor for 14 years, who is retiring from active service. Rev. Strubel, now living in Leetonia, will continue to serve as supply minister here until the arrival of his successor.

Injunction Asked In Burial Dispute

LISBON, Feb. 28.—A petition for a mandatory injunction requiring Wesley Baird, Salem R. D. to remove a casket from a lot in Fairfield township cemetery, was filed Monday in common pleas court by Mrs. Ella Kerr of Columbiana.

Mrs. Kerr charges that Baird had the body of his wife, Katherine, interred on a lot owned by the plaintiff. The burial took place Jan. 25, 1938. Mrs. Kerr asks for a court order compelling Baird to remove the casket.

A charge of trespassing filed against Baird by Mrs. Kerr in connection with the case, was ignored by the January grand jury.

ORATORY SLOWS ARMS PASSAGE

Senate Drops Plans For Quick Action On Army Bill

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—An outburst of oratory on foreign policy forced senate leaders today to abandon plans for quick passage of the $358,000,000 army expansion bill.

A series of lengthy addresses that started yesterday showed signs of continuing for several days. A dozen senators, including Borah (R., Ida.) and Nye (R., Ind.), waited their turn to carry on the debate.

The bill, which would carry out a major portion of President Roosevelt's defense program, would provide $300,000,000 for air corps expansion; $23,750,000 for Panama canal defenses, and $34,500,000 for "educational orders" to familiarize manufacturers with army needs.

Senator Clark (D., Mo.) served notice he would fight for an amendment limiting the army to 5,500 planes, the total voted by the house. The senate committee approved a limit of 6,000.

Senator Johnson (D., Colo.) disclosed that one point of controversy had been removed by an army decision to withdraw its support of a proposal exempting the "educational orders" from existing labor standards legislation.

(The present law forbids government contracts with manufacturers who fail to observe designated labor standards.)

John L. Lewis of the CIO called yesterday on Senator Barkley, the Democratic leader, to urge that the army exemption be eliminated.

Despite the indications of prolonged debate, all conceded the bill would be approved by a big majority. One well-informed member predicted there would be less than a dozen votes against it.

Yesterday's session found speakers stressing foreign policy with several touching on the recent house rejection of proposed plane facilities at Guam.

COURT DEFEAT SPURS DEMAND FOR REVISION

New Restrictions On Operation of Labor Board Sought

RIGHTS ASKED FOR EMPLOYERS

Labor Committee Planning Hearings on Proposed Amendments

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The first major reverses suffered by the National Labor Relations board in the U. S. Supreme Court encouraged the board's critics today to press demands for new restrictions on its operations.

An official of the American Federation of Labor said "the Supreme Court decision in the Fansteel case is a justification of the policies of the AFL with regard to the labor board."

Senator Burke (D., Neb.) declared the decisions were "excellent" and said they would bring support for proposals to amend the Wagner Labor Act, under which the board was set up in 1935.

Changes Proposed
Both Burke and the AFL have proposed changes in the act. Burke would make the law recognize specifically the rights of employers as well as employees in labor disputes. The AFL would attempt to set up legal safeguards against what it terms the board's partiality toward the CIO.

The court delivered its opinions yesterday in the midst of efforts by President Roosevelt to end the bitter rivalry between the AFL and the CIO.

Labor leaders on both sides speculated on the possible effect of the decisions on this movement, but first opinions were that it would not be of great importance, although the NLRB long has been an issue between the organizations.

Insofar as the peace movement itself was concerned, labor and the administration alike awaited some response from John L. Lewis, CIO chief, to the President's appeal. William Green, AFL president, already has appointed his negotiators.

May Set New Date

Meanwhile, it was expected that Chairman Thomas (D., Utah) would set a new date for the senate labor committee to begin hearings on all proposals to amend the Wagner act.

Thomas announced yesterday that hearings had been postponed indefinitely in the interest of CIO-AFL peace.

Subsequently it was learned that Green had protested to Thomas and won assurances that the postponement was temporary.

North Lima Youth Held By Sheriff In Extortion Case

YOUNGSTOWN, Feb. 28.—A confessed extortion note writer, in the Mahoning county jail today because Sheriff Ralph E. Elser, former assistant Mahoning county superintendent of schools, remembered a schoolboy's theme papers.

John Pazel, 20, of nearby North Lima, was arrested after a two-week search for the person who threatened to kill G. C. Rouch, a farmer, or his wife unless $5,000 was left at a designated spot.

Keeping the note and arrest a secret, Elser today reported he had obtained a confession from Pazel, a neighbor of the Rouch family.

Although the $5,000 demand was found by Rouch in his mail box, it is understood that the youth will not be prosecuted under federal extortion laws because the note was not mailed.

The Rouch home has been under guard since Feb. 14, the day the note was found. Three times deputies saw Pazel pass the place where a dummy package of money was cached, but he made no attempt to pick it up, Elser said.

After careful study of the unsigned note, the sheriff noted certain grammatical phrases and spellings. He connected these with Pazel, who was arrested by the boy at the North Lima school before Elser became sheriff. The arrest followed.

Pazel first denied writing the note, then confessed, Elser said, but passed it off as a "practical joke." Later, the sheriff said, Pazel admitted he wanted money "to open a joint in West Virginia."

CHAPTER XXV.

"Well, difficult or not, it has to be done," Matresser said sternly, "and if you feel in the least doubt as to your instructions, you had better telephone once more to M17B before you make any false move which would mean the removal of two very able officers from the service. There is to be no arrest until Downing Street permits it, even if you get a confession."

Marlow, dejected and puzzled, took his leave. Yates stroked his chin for several moments thoughtfully. Once he moved towards the window and looked up at the sky, then he turned his shaggy head towards Matresser.

"Have you received word from London as to your destination, sir?" he asked.

Matresser smiled.

"For the first time in my life, little man," he replied, "I am not proposing to tell you. I shall be carrying the burden of a great many secrets. That big man down in the harbor, if he is here for the purpose I believe he is, would boil you alive to find them out."

"He wouldn't succeed."

"Boiling alive is an unpleasant death," Matresser observed.

"We have seen worse," Yates reminded him.

"One thing more," Matresser said emphatically.

The little man nodded.

"I can guess what it is."

"Don't let them bully Miss Stammer."

"It would be easier," Yates suggested, "if you were to get her to tell you why and for whom she bought that hypodermic syringe."

Once more the lights were flaming from behind every window of the Great House. Everyone crowded on to the terrace or on to the balcony. Out of the clouds had come the roar of the engine of a slowly descending plane. In the center of the Park every man upon the place was engaged in building up with dry timber the bonfire which was to guide the plane down.

Matresser was standing in the gunroom doorway. He started at a soft touch upon his shoulder.

It was Elisabeth who stood there, a transformed Elisabeth in a tailored suit and a small felt hat, with a row of woodcock feathers which he had himself arranged in the ribbon. She carried a fur coat upon her arm. He looked at her in astonishment.

"My dear—"

She drew him on one side.

"Lord Matresser," she begged, "you must do something for me."

"Well?"

"This plane is coming for you, of course. I suppose it means another of your wild expeditions."

"Not that I know of," he assured her.

She pointed to the pile of gun cases, the well-filled cartridge magazines all standing neatly together.

"What about those?"

Matresser contemplated them calmly.

"Well, there has been a shooting expedition talked of," he admitted. "I thought I had better get ready."

The shooting expedition that Sir Francis, your Foreign Secretary, came down to see you about, I suppose?" she demanded.

"Does that matter?" he asked.

She was silent for a few brief moments.

"You do not wish to tell me any-

Alliance Police Chief Comments On Part Juveniles Take In Crime

ALLIANCE, Feb. 28.—Checking the records of arrests during the last year, Police Chief Harry L. Stark blames a gain in criminal cases involving juveniles on the limited personnel of the police department.

"It is the duty of policemen to instruct the youths rather than to wait until something happens and then make arrests," Stark declared in pointing out that the eight-man personnel makes this practice impossible.

An analysis of the records shows that the department has turned over 114 juveniles to Probation Officer Ralph E. Boyer during the last 14 months. Both the number of arrests and the seriousness of some of the cases have prompted a study of the situation by the chief and other city officials.

INDIANS ASSERT RIGHT TO DRINK

Montana Ban On Peyote Results In Petition to Legislature

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 28.—The Indians of Montana and Nevada want to know if the freedom of religious worship, guaranteed in the Constitution of the United States, extends to the Indian, and includes the use of the Peyote bean in religious rituals.

Montana legislators outlawed the Peyote drink, without knowing of its use and effect. Indians assert. The Blackfoot tribe sent a medicine man, and two young braves, to Helena to petition for an amendment to the drug and narcotics act allowing the continuance of old tribal ceremonies in which the participants imbibed of Peyote. Although the state laws do not prevail on federal Indian reservations, they sought to harmonize the state and federal laws, and an amendment is now pending to this effect.

Nevada Indians Protest

Similarly, lawmakers of Nevada have banned Piodi, a drink very much like the beverage distilled from the Peyote bean Nevada Indians are protesting.

Only a few white men have ever drunk Peyote. In legend the drink is linked with the mystic Hindu soma. When the drinker has been properly initiated in ritualistic ceremony, a quay of Peyote will induce, so it is said, the deepest feelings of spiritual awe, and appropriate sentiments of brotherly affection.

Recently, several medical scientists in New York took a few drinks of the Indian spirits. One of them, in describing his sensations, said that time and space seemed to vanish, and that he lived through several eternities floating in a nether region, that somehow seemed strangely familiar.

Another one of the doctors declared that, while perfectly conscious of what was going on around him, his head seemed to turn into a plate glass window, and he was terribly anxious lest it be detached from his body and be placed in a store front.

Indian Sage Explains

The correspondent talked with an old Indian, a member of the tribal secret organization, about the meaning and effect of the Peyote drink.

The Indian sage declared that what the white scientist called natural spirits, the Indian held to be the life essence of various plants. Each plant having an essence, or soul, peculiar to itself. Peyote, he

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey, it's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, toasted, nutritious cereal. And it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular, day after day. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

From time immemorial, he said, the Peyote drink had been used among western Indians in certain fraternal and religious rite to create a common spirit among the worshippers and to teach different ways of seeing and hearing from those of everyday life.

He denied that the drink had any lasting or harmful effects.

HUSBANDS CLUB WELL INSULATED

Minute of Peace Founded As Haven for Hen-Pecked Hubbies

OGUNKIT, Me.—The town's new fraternal organization, The Minute of Peace, was established as a haven for hen-pecked husbands.

The motive was entirely selfish and base: to found a telephonic club baring women.

Agreeing that it was most difficult to be enjoying cards, checkers, or forensics and have the wife phone instructions regarding some errands. "On the way home to stop by and get a pound of round steak and I want some postage stamps and you can pick up a spool of gray silk thread—and for heaven's sake, don't be all day about it."

Drastic action was necessary. Ogunkit is a bustling little haven in the summer, but when winter comes all unnecessary movement stops. "The boys" had been in the habit of meeting at the drug store and restaurant, but the telephone permitted too much interference from the women folk.

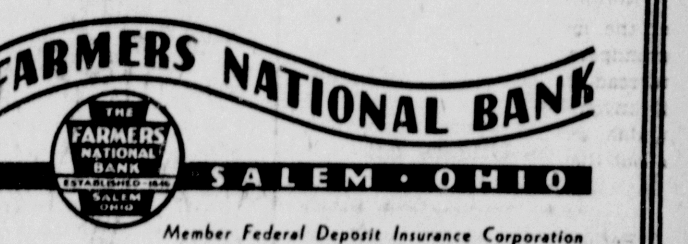

The worst part of the requests was that they always ended with "and hurry!" which meant dropping everything and doing the wife's errand.

A council of war resulted in renting a small, vacant store. The sign in front says, "No Telephone Connection."

The club roster bears the name of nearly every happily-or-otherwise married man in town. Judge H. Raymond Brewster is the legal advisor, who makes sure no women enter the sacred portals. And the telephone never breaks up game or argument cause there ain't any.

Passenger Local Hits Freight Train

PASCO, Wash., Feb. 28.—Railway officials and county authorities investigated today the crossing collision of a Northern Pacific passenger train and a Union Pacific freight train in which two trainmen were killed and two others were injured. A cattle-loaded freight car was smashed.

The passenger train, a "local" bound from Walla Walla, Wash., to Pasco for connection with Seattle, ran broadside into the freight at the Attalla crossing, about 12 miles southeast of here, last night.

The Northern Pacific engine overturned, killing Engineer R. R. Elley, 50, of Spokane, and William Lott, fireman, of Pasco, Wash.

A passenger car left the rails but none of the seven or eight passengers aboard was injured, the Northern Pacific reported.

The Northern Pacific office at Spokane reported the crossing was "fully protected" by automatic block signals, and that both trains were traveling at slow speed when they crashed.

J. WELLINGTON WHOOSH

"To what do you attribute your success?" we asked the great industrialist, J. Wellington Whoosh, as he paused in the process of endowing another college and a couple of art museums. He smiled reminiscently.

"I worked hard, banked my money, and always read the advertisements!"

Far-fetched? Of course. But it's a good-humored way of calling your attention to a serious fact: Intelligent reading of the advertising pages will save you time and money.

LISBON, Feb. 28.—Applications for April CCC enrollment will be received up to March 15 at the court house, H. A. Moore, selecting agent for the county, announced today.
A number of Columbiana county youths will be selected for CCC camps, leaving April 1, Moore stated.
The quota is unknown at present but will be announced within the next two weeks by the state selecting officer. Applications received after March 15 will be held for the July call Moore says.
Boys who are unemployed and in need of work are eligible for application. The age limits are 17 and 23 inclusive. Proof of age must be furnished by the applicant in the form of a birth certificate, mother's certificate or a certified copy of school registration date.
A recently adopted policy favors enrollment of boys between 18 and indicating the average 17-year-old boy is not mature enough for the rigorous outdoor life required nor quite ready for the type of camp experience and training offered by the corps.

BOSTON GUIDES ERRANT YOUTH

Special Juvenile Court Rarely Imposes Term In Reformatory

BOSTON—Boston's unique juvenile court is credited with halving the number of juvenile delinquency cases in the nation's ninth largest city.

Although clothed with all the powers of a municipal court, its sessions are marked by informality.
Sessions are held in chambers.
The judge wears no robe and there is no opening or closing ritual.

Only the complainant, often a parent, the youthful defendant, the probation officer and the judge are present. If the boy or girl wishes to talk privately with the judge, all others are excluded.

The court, created by the legislature in 1908, handles all cases of delinquency involving children 7 to 17 years old in the congested north, west and south ends, Back Bay and the business district.

Eight Handic Work

Heading the court is a full-time justice, John F. Perkins, who receives $5,000 a year. He is assisted by two special justices who sit only in his absence, a clerk, and a chief probation officer and three assistants.

The court's rehabilitation work is featured by a citizenship training department established by Judge Perkins in 1936, to which all boy delinquents are sent for eight weeks at the start of their probation. Only 5 per cent of the defendants are sent to reformatories.

The department is conducted five afternoons a week after school hours in quarters provided by the Young Men's Christian Union.
The staff includes a psychiatrist, a physician and two former athletic coaches. Half of each two-hour session is devoted to conditioning exercises and competitive games, and the remainder to informal round-table discussions.

Once a boy has completed the department's course, he is sent to some settlement house or boys' club in his community where he is expected to participate in group activities.

Weekly Report Requested

While on probation, boys and girls report once weekly to a probation officer at one of three settlement houses. Once weekly also the probation department receives a report from the probation officer covering school work and behavior. Once a month a probation officer visits the child's home.

Many children appearing before the juvenile court are placed in "outer" homes.

Ninety per cent of children in juvenile courts come from crowded homes in congested areas, with little or no wholesome recreation and with poor social standards. Judge Perkins said. "Their lives lack such civilizing influences as inspiration and good training. Since they cannot get this in other ways, the court must try to see that they get what they lack."

BARTLEY, Neb.—In a freak mishap, a cow kicked Bert Proud, 61, farmer, who was milking it, breaking his leg. Then the animal turned on his wife, fracturing her leg. The cow went amuck after being frightened by a cat. Proud died a few days later of a heart attack.

THREE QUINTS ARE OUSTED IN 'B' ROUND ROBIN

Roberts Shop, Christians and K. of C. Drop by Wayside

Three club dropped by the wayside in the Class B round robin at the Memorial building last night. The victims of the elimination drive, each having lost two games, are Roberts, Christians and the K. of C.

The Roberts' quint bowed to the Carroll Clowns, 16 to 12; the Methodists B took the Christians, 30 to 26, and the Texans finished ahead of the K. of C. lads.

In the fourth tilt on the evening's card, Deming's nosed out the Smith Creameries, 32 to 31, in an overtime battle.

The teams finished in a dead heat, at 30 points apiece, at the end of the regular playing period. Foul shots by Deming and Tolson in the overtime period capped the decision.

Holdout Troubles, Meanwhile, Plague Indian Officials

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28.—The advance guard of the Cleveland Indians sped southward today as holdout troubles continued to plague club officials.

The first squad will arrive at the New Orleans training base tomorrow morning and engage in the initial workout a few hours later.

Leaving with Manager Oscar Vitt last night were Pitchers Al Milnar and Paul Sullivan, Infielders Ray Mack and Oscar Grimes and Frank Sealz, Traveling Secretary Lew Mumaw and Trainer Max Weisman. Johnny Broaca, former New York Yankees pitcher, notified club officials that he had changed his mind since advising them several weeks ago that he was satisfied with his contract.

Broaca's entry swelled the holdout list to 10. Others outside the fold are Pitchers Mel Harder and Willis Hudlin, Catchers Rollie Hemmley and Frank Pytlak, Infielders Lyn Lary and Hal Trosky, and Outfielders Earl Averill, Bruce Campbell and Jeff Heath.

Coach Oscar Melillo and Infielder Lou Boudreau were to join the vanguard at Chicago today. Bob Feller, Johnny Humphries, several of the younger pitchers and other rookie infielders are in New Orleans.

Ohio State, Indiana, Tied, Face Crucial Week-end Battles

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28.—It's beginning to look more and more like a photo finish in the Big Ten basketball championship race.

Indiana's one-game advantage over second-place Ohio State, only two title contenders remaining, was eliminated last night when the Hoosiers' traditional state rival, Purdue, dropped them for a 45 to 34 count.

The defeat, Indiana's first in 10 games, and Ohio State's 42 to 28 victory over Michigan gave both teams a record of nine wins and two losses with one game to go.

O. S. U. Faces Purdue

In the championship-deciding schedule Saturday Indiana plays Michigan at Ann Arbor and Ohio State entertains Purdue. If the fourth place Boilermakers can give the Buckeye a dose similar to their treatment of Indiana last night the Hoosiers can win the title.

Purdue took the lead early last night and paced the game all the way, scoring more points than against any other Big Ten opponent this season. Their highly efficient defense forced Indiana to try long shots all the way and limited the Hoosier ace, Sophomore Bill Menke, to seven points.

Eagles Capture Alliance Game

The Memorial Eagles of Salem trimmed the Alliance Methodists, 33 to 27, last night at Alliance. Loral led the Salem quintet in scoring, with 15 points.

Will Labor War End in Peace?

Mrs. John L. Lewis and her husband

This latest picture of John L. Lewis, chairman of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and his wife was taken in Washington after the labor leader's return in accordance with a letter from President Roosevelt for another peace parley with the rival American Federation of Labor. Both Lewis and William Green, president of the A. F. of L., have appointed representatives to discuss peace terms.

Theatre Attractions

John Garfield and Gloria Dickson as they appear in a scene from "They Made Me a Criminal", showing at the State Wednesday and Thursday.

"They Made Me a Criminal", the Warner Bros. production at the State theater Wednesday and Thursday with John Garfield and Gloria Dickson in the top roles, introduces a novel locale to film-goers.

A desert dance ranch in California is the scene of most of the exciting dramatic action of the picture. Although such ranches are thoroughly familiar to "way-out" Westerners, they are an unknown phenomenon to most Easterners. These large ranches provide work for an itinerant population of fruit packers.

In "They Made Me a Criminal", May Robson and Gloria Dickson are the proprietors of the ranch, and John Garfield and the "Dead End" kids are their chief helpers. Garfield is hiding out there to escape punishment for a murder of which he was falsely accused, and the "Dead End" kids play New York toughs who have been sent out to the ranch to be regenerated.

Other members of the cast include Claude Rains, Ann Sheridan, Robert Gleckler, John Ridgely, Barbara Pepper and many others. Bisby Berkeley directed from a screen play by Sig Herzig, based on a novel by Bertram Milhauser and Benish Marie Dix.

"Tail Spin" Concludes
Showing for the last times tonight at the State theater is "Tail Spin", starring Alice Faye, Nancy Kelly and Constance Bennett.

Two pictures are the featured attractions at the Grand Wednesday only. The first picture is "Nancy Drew-Reporter".

Bonita Granville again appears as a brave and clever heroine in "Nancy Drew-Reporter", second in the series of films the Warner Bros. Studio is making from Carolyn Keene's popular Nancy Drew stories which open at the Grand theater today.

Other principals in the cast who were in the highly popular initial picture, "Nancy Drew-Detective", include Frankie Thomas, still Nancy's best friend, and John Littel, who carries on as Nancy's father.

CHANGES ASKED IN WAGNER ACT

ponement would not be indefinite. In one of the NLRB cases the Supreme Court took occasion to condemn sit-down strikes. Chief Justice Hughes read the opinion which, reversing the labor board, upheld the right of the Pansteel Metallurgical corporation of North Chicago, Ill., to discharge employees who occupied two key buildings of the Pansteel plant during a 1937 strike.

Justices Roberts, McReynolds and Butler concurred. Justice Stone concurred in part, and Justices Reed and Black dissented in part.

No Legal Right

The chief justice called the seizure and retention of the buildings a "high-handed proceeding without shadow of legal right."

"The employees had the right to strike," he declared, "but they had no business to commit acts of violence or to seize their employer's plant. To justify such conduct because of the existence of a labor dispute or of an unfair labor practice would be to put a premium on resort to force instead of legal remedies and to subvert the principle of law and order which lie at the foundation of society."

The other two cases involved the Sands Manufacturing company of Cleveland, against which charges were brought by the Mechanics Educational Society of America, an independent union; and the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company, Inc., of Terre Haute, Ind., against which charges were brought by an enameling and stamping mill employees' union (AFL).

In both those cases the court set aside labor board orders to reinstate striking employees who had been discharged. Involved was the question of labor responsibility to uphold contracts.
